

Sharing the Flavors of the Season

Thanksgiving is a time for gathering with loved ones, sharing memories, and enjoying the dishes that make the holiday special. Whether you're hosting at home or bringing a dish to a family gathering, we've put together a collection of classic, crowd-pleasing recipes perfect for the season.

At Covenant Living Communities and Services, we know that good food has a way of bringing people together—and we're excited to share a few of our favorites with you!

Grandma's Pumpkin Pie

No Thanksgiving table feels complete without the comforting scent of pumpkin spice in the air. This classic recipe is simple, rich, and always a crowd favorite—a sweet reminder of holidays gone by and those yet to come. View the recipe.

Creamy Make-Ahead Mashed Potatoes

Nothing says "home" quite like a warm dish of buttery mashed potatoes. This version can be made the night before and reheated without losing its creamy texture, making it a perfect dish to bring along and serve with ease. View the recipe.

Cranberry-Orange Relish

A fresh, tangy twist on traditional cranberry sauce, this bright relish adds a burst of flavor to every plate. It's quick to prepare, travels well, and tastes even better after a day in the fridge—perfect for making ahead. View the recipe.

Sweet Potato Casserole with Pecan Crumble

The warm sweetness of baked sweet potatoes topped with a crisp, buttery pecan crumble makes this dish a nostalgic favorite. It's a little dessert, a little side dish, and completely irresistible. View the recipe.
